How come the rush to bankruptcy by an occupying unconstitutional force, the government of Michigan, An example of "might makes right," not justice in the law.

As a citizen of Detroit, as a retiree from Detroit Public <sup>Civil</sup> Service, as a property owner, as a lover of Detroit, in spite of its flaws, I object to the predatory and criminal acting banks being given secured status; the only secured status they need is to be secured in jail with the small time thieves <sup>(to whom)</sup> we normally limit lock up service to. Our mayoral write in candidate no doubt paid someone to accept a $30 million fine by DMC to stop further investigation into the malfeasance occurring during the previous 8 years under Duggan's directorship.

I, as one of the primary organisers of the Motor City Seasonal Workers Union representing the lowest paid part time workers in city employment, want to stress that any subtractions from the pensions of the lowest paid workers is inhumane as it allows some of these individuals to fall below a livable income. Do ~~not~~ touch these pensions.

One of the so-called ~~the~~ secured creditors, UBS recently paid another fine ~~but~~ ~~as~~ the government agreed not to indict the responsible UBS employees, too big for jail; too big to fail. What about the individual pensioners who followed the law and went to work everyday. If you change the pensions into 401 K's you can bankrupt any pension system unless the market goes up to compensate. The creditors are dividing the people between city workers and art lovers by bringing in Christies at $200,000, to evaluate the worth of our art. Is it "a modest proposal" to let people go without to hold onto our art? My cousin says we are related to Jane Adams. People came here for political freedom and economic opportunity. We are going back before Magna Carta with corporate fascism.

If the state had the interests of Detroit in mind, Detroit would be part owner of the new bridge that is being initially financed by Canada. But now Canada and Michigan will own and control it even though we Detroiters have to put up with the traffic, air pollution and damage to our roads. Detroit needs transparent government to make government healthy. We can get this via an internet access for all via our lighting poles but the state voted to take our PLD and put it into an authority, and is giving our lighting pools (which could carry the internet) to Edison. Privatization narrows our opportunity for better government. We have a right to information and should not have to rely on FOIA when we can encourage free flow of information, knowledge and help via internet. Respectfully, David Barrat
